

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy outlines how Henry's Software uses the information it collects on this website. In the course of this policy, "we" "our" and "us" refer to Henry's Software.

Privacy Principles

We value your privacy as much as we value ours. That's why we at Henry's Software wish to emphasize these underlying principles:

We make it a point not to ask for personal information that we don't really need.

We won't disclose your personal information to anybody, unless it's for legal purposes, company and/or product development or to safeguard the rights of the company.

It is Henry's Software policy to respect and keep private any personal information we may collect from you in the course of operating our website.

Registration

For the general public, registration is not necessary to be able to use this website for free. But to be able to participate and post, a registration form should be filled out completely with your desired username, password and email address. Your email address will be used to verify your membership and to contact you about related concerns. Henry's Software retains sole ownership of all the information collected on this website. We do not share any personally identifying information with outside third parties.

Legal Disclaimer

Henry's Software reserves the right to disclose your personally identifying information when legally required and when the information is relevant for the protection of our rights, including but not limited to compliance to a legal process or court order served to our website.

The does not take responsibility for the correctness, completeness, up-to-datedness or quality of the information provided on the Websites. The expressly disclaims any and all liability to any person in respect of anything done or omitted to be done wholly or partially in reliance upon the contents of the Websites.

Furthermore, we are not liable for any damage or corruption caused by viruses (or similar mechanisms such as worms, lock outs, metering, or self-destruct mechanisms) on computers or other terminal equipment in connection with visiting, using and/or downloading data of any kind from the Websites. The Visitors are personally responsible for protecting their equipment appropriately from viruses and other risks on the Internet.

The reserves the right, at its sole discretion, but disclaims the obligation, to monitor and/or remove content.

User Information

Please be aware that when you share or post personally identifying information, that that information can be seen, stored or utilized by other members whom you chose to share the information with. This may result in you receiving unsolicited messages and other forms of communication, depending on the information you shared. Henry's Software will not be responsible for personally identifying information that you share or post.

Log Files

Log files contain information that is usually made available by your web browser and is stored on our web server. This non personally identifying information includes the following: browser type, language preference, referring site and the date and time of every page request. Just like most other sites, we collect this information to: have a better understanding of how our visitors use our website, be able to generate reports on the trends relevant to the usage of our website, help with website administration, analyze user activities on the site, and collect information about our user base in general. We do not link the information contained in these log files to personally identifying information and we will never distribute them to outside third parties.

Cookies and Web Beacons

A cookie is a small text file that a website stores on your computer. This file contains information that your browser provides to the website each time you return. Cookies are used for record keeping purposes. A web beacon is a transparent graphical image that serves to monitor your interaction with a website. This, along with cookies and log files, provides us with analytical information that we can use to improve website performance and user experience in general. We do not link this information to personally identifying information nor do we give this information to outside third parties. This privacy statement regarding the use of cookies and web beacons is only applicable to the Henry's Software website.

Third Party Ads

Our advertising partners may use cookies and web beacons in the ads that they serve on our website. The use of such technologies will enable the advertiser to store information about your web surfing interests, so that they can show you targeted advertisements that they believe will interest you the most. Our Privacy Policy does not cover the use of cookies and web beacons in the ads of our third party advertisers.

Managing Cookies

If you do not wish to enable cookies, simply adjust your browser settings before using our website and turn off cookies for Henry's Software or our third party advertisers. Bear in mind, however, that disabling cookies may affect how our site will function for you (e.g. being unable to log in).

Links to Other Sites

Our website contains links leading to other websites that are not owned or managed by us. Because we are not responsible for how these sites handle your privacy, we encourage you to check out the Privacy Policies of those other websites before giving out your personal information.

Changes

Henry's Software reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy as it deems necessary. A notification will be posted on this page of this website, and on other pages deemed appropriate, so that you'll always know what information we collect and what we do with it.

Contact Us

Please do not hesitate to contact us regarding any matter relating to this Privacy and Cookies Policy via email at guitarman5878@gmail.com